

Frequently Asked Questions and Parent Information :: City Project 2019

When is City Project :: May 21-July 18, 2019

Cost :: Students must raise $5200 in order to participate in City Project.

How do students raise support :: The primary way is through communicating to those who want to invest in your development as a disciple of Jesus. Through letter or email, combined with a personal visit or phone call, convey the unique opportunity you have in the City Project. This is more than a mission trip. It is a holistic development of right thinking about God, a vision for the church, and a love for the people of the world. You should start having these conversations as soon as you turn in your application. You don't have to ask for money yet, but especially to those you know well, begin talking about the City Project and share your excitement with them. After your official acceptance into the City Project, we will train you how to raise support and you will be given sample letters and other resources to use.

What is the money I raised used for :: Most funds go toward your plane ticket and in country costs for the International trip. Other costs include books, your living expenses, paying teachers, and the NYC trip.

What happens if a student doesn't raise all the funds needed :: We have clear support raising deadlines in place that have been communicated to your student. While we will work with your student as much as possible as they seek to meet these deadlines, if the international deadline is not met by the specified date, then they will not be able to travel internationally for that portion of the summer and it will be evaluated whether or not they can still participate in the rest of the summer, provided that they raise the funds to cover all expenses. We truly believe that God has called your student to this project and that he will be faithful to provide the funds as your student works hard and is faithful to follow the support raising process we have in place.

Housing :: Wake Forest Housing will be local housing with students and staff in dorm rooms, located on the campus of Southeastern Baptist Theological Seminary. Specific details, such as room assignments and packing list, will be disclosed closer to move in date. Please know that safety is top priority to us and we ensure that housing will be provided in a location that is wise, safe, and strategic. International Housing is being secured in different locations by our field partners. Some will be in hotels, some will stay with trust host families, and some will be in mission guest houses – either way security, again, is a top priority and we ensure that these housing situations will be handled with great care and communicated to you as a parent with clarity. Specific details will be disclosed closer to departure date.

Food :: During the Wake Forest portion, meals are provided by Magnolia Kitchen on the campus of SEBTS. On the weekends, students will be given stipends for all meals. During international trips, all meals are covered during travel and in country.

Transportation :: Students will be driving or carpooling with other students and staff for local events. Students and staff will be taking a bus to New York during that portion of the summer and will use local transportation under the direction of the staff in NYC.

Safety in Wake Forest :: The student's safety is one of our top priorities. This is true no matter where they are and includes their time in Wake Forest! The Summit Church is equipped to train them on how to live wisely in Wake Forest, NC due to having done this in years past.

Can students go home during the summer? :: For pre-approved dates and emergency situations students are permitted to go home. A process for having absences approved will be communicated to your student and they must follow that process in order to leave for a pre-approved absence. We want students to engage with and invest in the City Project community this summer; therefore, we ask students to make themselves as available as possible to participating in City Project as a whole. Students can fill out a form to request permission to leave City Project for special engagements or extenuating circumstances. We want to honor as many requests as possible, but also help students grow in community this summer and we believe that even the informal time they have with each other is crucial for their growth as a disciple of Christ. Can students work a job during the summer.

Time off and Working During the Summer :: You will have Friday and Saturday off (during the Wake Forest portion of the summer) and you may also take off one afternoon per week for purposes of working another job. It is certainly not ideal to work during the summer to help with your focus, but we understand and appreciate those who need to work during the summer. With that in mind, the international and NYC trips are required portions of the program, so you would need to be absent from the job for several weeks during the summer.

Can students get college or seminary credit for the summer :: Currently, we are not providing seminary or college credit for any of the classes you take this summer.

A typical week during the Wake Forest portion :: Most of the weeks in Wake Forest will consist of class type settings from 9am-Noon, Monday-Thursday. After lunch, students will meet participate in other ministry assignments. There may be particular projects that come up throughout the summer that the City Project is asked to help with from Vacation Bible School to Serve RDU projects. In those cases, we may veer from the typical daily schedule, at least outside of class. Evenings will consist of ministry projects or down time. Fridays and Saturdays are off days. On Sundays, the students attend one service at the Summit and serve at another through First Impressions and Kids ministries. Sunday nights consist of a social event for the students.

International Locations :: Each international location for the summer is a place where The Summit Church has strategic long-term partners that have proven great competence through years of experience as well as years of hosting teams from Summit. We and our partners are monitoring the safety of each location very closely on a regular basis and assure you that we are not sending your students to places that are unwise. In each place, your student will have the opportunity to engage in strategic work for the sake of the gospel that will aid, encourage, support, and play a party in the long-term work of our strategic partners.

Banquet :: At the end of the summer, we will have a celebration banquet that we'd love for you to attend! We would love for you to come to the banquet which will be during debrief week. This will be an incredible opportunity to hear about what your child was a part of this summer. This year the banquet will be held on July 18, 2019. We will communicate the time, location, and any change of plans to your student during the summer.

Communication While traveling internationally :: Once we have secured an itinerary for your student, and they have met all financial requirements for participation in their international trip, we will make your student's travel itinerary available to them online. Two Summit College staff members will accompany them during their travels. Our Summit College staff members who are not traveling will do the best we can to track each team's progress through their itinerary. However, please know that international travel itineraries are prone to change quickly, both before and during international travel. Although Summit College keeps track of changes the best we can, changes that happen during international travel are often both outside of our control and beyond our ability to track in a timely manner. When changes like this happen, we cannot guarantee that we have the ability to communicate all changes of itinerary for your student because the team leader may not have time or ability to communicate to us. Therefore, if you desire to track your student as they travel internationally, we highly recommend that you and your student agree upon a communication plan during their international travel. That will provide the parents peace of mind and help the student understand why it is important for them to communicate to parents during travel and upon arrival.

In Case of Emergency :: If you cannot reach your student directly and need to get in touch with them, or if you need to ask the staff questions during the summer, email gonow@summitrdu.com to get in touch with Summit College Staff. The same applies for a personal family emergency on your part or if you hear about something that happens in Wake Forest or internationally – just email us at this address and we will response immediately! This email will be checked consistently by multiple people throughout the summer. In addition to emailing this address, you can also call any member of the Go Now Leadership Team at the numbers listed below. Please note that even if you call one of these numbers please still email the address above to ensure someone responses immediately (these pastors will be traveling throughout the summer as well):

- 704-996-7498 -- Dave, College Pastor
- 478-232-8386 -- Wes, Associate College Pastor
- 703-582-4970 -- Elizabeth, College Women's Director
- 919-383-7100 – The Summit Church Office

What is expected of participants during the summer? :: Below is the covenant that students sign in order to be accepted into this program. If this covenant is violated at any point during the summer, students could be dismissed from the program and sent home as his/her own expense. While this is extremely rare, we set clear expectations beforehand for the health of the program and the success of students and all other students involved.
